

Amendments to the Specification

Please amend the Specification as follows:

Paragraph [008] should read: -- As such, by comparing the original identification information stored within the database to the identification information on the check, the computer system and/or teller will be able to detect any type of ~~alteration~~ alteration or modification, thus alerting the teller to potential fraudulent activity. --